Meetings, incentives, convention and exhibition organisers from across the Americas will gather in Mexico City next month for three days of networking and business.

ICOMEX, held from 9-11 November at the WTC in Mexico's capital, features a broad range of more than 100 exhibitors for hosted buyers and general visitors to consider. These will include destination services, venues, professional organisers and travel services.

There will also be an educational programme for delegates, consisting of seminars and workshops. What's more, the event will include TOP ICOMEX, which the show organisers describe as "the best place to accomplish appointments with national and international buyers". This initiative features a series of business roundtables acting as a platform on which hosted buyers to debate key issues and network.
